Background

BP in Business is designed to help teachers and students learn about business in an accessible and engaging way by using real examples from BP's multinational business.

The series of case studies offers students an exciting insight into a global business and shows how the same business principles can apply to everyday life in their homes and local communities. Each case study can be used as a stand-alone resource or along with other case studies.

BP experts and teachers have contributed to case studies on the following topics:

Case Study 1: Competition, Community and Government

Case Study 2: BP and the Environment

Case Study 3: Leading and Managing People
